CATTLE, BEEF AND BEEF PRODUCTS - ANALYSIS OF FOREIGN TRADE OF THE UNITED STATES

Cattle

Even in colonial days the United States sent small shipments of cattle to countries over-seas and for nearly a hundred years after the foundation of the national government these exports were maintained at about the same level. The development of the western ranges following the Civil War resulted in a large surplus of cattle which gave a noticeable impetus to our export trade. Although fluctuating from year to year, exports of live cattle gradually increased until 1904 when more than 593,000 head were marketed abroad. Following the peak year of 1904, there was a sharp decline until in 1910 we imported 56,000 more cattle than we exported. Subsequent years have continued to show a balance in favor of imports, average net imports during the last five years amounting to 305,000 head with 1929 reaching the record figure of 537,000 head. An increase in domestic demand and greater competition from Argentina are the principal factors that have brought about this reversal of position in our trade with foreign countries.

During 1928 and 1929, Canada supplied about 44 per cent of our imported cattle and Mexico about 55 per cent while the remaining 1 per cent which were mostly breeding cattle came from the United Kingdom and the Channel Islands. Of the imports from Canada 44 per cent were imported for feeding, about 43 per cent for slaughter, 8 per cent for dairying and 5 per cent for breeding. Practically all of the imports from Mexico are for feeding.

Trade with our outlying possessions such as Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico is small and comparatively unimportant. The largest single item during the last few years has been shipments of cattle to Porto Rico which have ranged between 1,000 head and 2,000 head.

Beef and Beef Products.

Beef and beef products have always made up a considerable part of our agricultural exports, in early days most of it going out in the form of pickled beef. Purchases by foreign countries show a gradual growth until after the Civil War. About this time frontiers were pushed farther and farther west and the opening up of these cheap grazing areas created a surplus which soon found its way into the channels of foreign trade. Exports rose rapidly until they reached the peak between 1901 and 1905 when average exports amounted to 607,931,000 pounds. But the Virgin lands of Argentina and Uruguay were undergoing the same development the United States had experienced 30 years before and in less than a decade supplanted the United States as exporters of beef. The abrupt downward trend which started about 1910 was only temporarily interrupted by the abnormal demands of the World War so that by 1928 our export balance had entirely disappeared, net imports during 1928 and 1929 amounting to 31,078,000 pounds and 58,128,000 pounds respectively. As early as 1914, fresh beef changed to an import basis, since 1923 canned beef and during the last two years tallow have shown an excess of imports.

During the last five years average net imports of fresh beef amounted to 29,914,000 pounds as against, 7,868,000 pounds during the five years immediately preceding the World War. Average net imports of canned beef during 1925-1929 reached 26,381,000 pounds as compared with an average net export of 9,392,000 pounds during 1910-1914.

Exports of pickled beef have followed the general downward trend, average net exports amounting to 11,515,000 pounds during the last five years, or only about one-third as heavy as the 1910-14 average. During 1910-14, tallow showed an average export balance of 27,787,000 pounds as against an average net import of 503,000 pounds during 1925-29.

Oleo oil leads all other beef products in volume exported. During 1925-1929 foreign countries purchased an average of 87,262,000 pounds, a decrease of 25 per cent as compared with 1910-14. Oleo oil furnishes one of the raw materials of the oleomargarine industry of the Netherlands, Germany and Scandinavian countries which take the major portion of our surplus.

Shipments of fresh, canned and pickled beef to Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico show considerable increase but these three possessions together seldom purchase more than 9,000,000 pounds annually. Fresh beef makes up the major portion of the shipments to Alaska, shipments to Hawaii consist largely of canned beef, while considerable quantities of both fresh and pickled beef go to Porto Rico.

EXPLANATION OF TERMS.

DOMESTIC EXPORTS - Goods produced or manufactured in this country from either domestic or imported raw materials and which are shipped to foreign countries. The kind, quantity and value of exported merchandise are ascertained from the shipper's export declarations filed by the exporters with the collector of customs at the port of exportation.

Include exports to the Philippine Islands and Virgin Islands of the United States. Since 1902, exclude shipments from continental United States to Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico.

1790 - 1802 - Includes reexports or exports of foreign merchandise.

IMPORTS, GENERAL - Embrace articles entered at the customhouses for immediate consumption and imported articles entered for warehouse. Include imports from the Philippine Islands and Virgin Islands of the United States. Since 1902, exclude shipments to the United States from Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico.

IMPORTS FOR CONSUMPTION - Embrace articles entered for immediate consumption and imported articles withdrawn from warehouse for consumption. The statement of general imports and the statement of imports entered for consumption for any period will always differ to the extent that the value of entries for warehouse for the period differs from the value of withdrawals from warehouse for consumption. The term "entry for consumption" is the technical name of the import entry made at the customhouse and implies that the goods have been delivered into the custody of the importer and that the duties have been paid on the dutiable portion. Some of them may be afterward exported. Imports for consumption were first reported in 1867 and published in 1868.

KIND, QUANTITY and VALUE OF IMPORTS - The kind, quantity of value of imported merchandise are ascertained from the entry filed by the importer at the customhouse.

The value of imported merchandise as shown in the statistical tables is the foreign value or the export value, whichever is higher; that is, the market value or the price at which the merchandise, at the time of exportation to the United States is offered for sale in the principal markets of the country from which exported, including the cost of containers or coverings and all expenses incident to placing the merchandise in condition ready for shipment to the United States.

REEXPORTS OR EXPORTS OF FOREIGN MERCHANDISE - Goods which have been imported into this country either for re-export or consumption and are afterward exported having undergone no change in form or condition or enhancement in value by application of labor in the United States.

1790-1802 - Combined with domestic exports.

NET EXPORTS - Domestic exports and reexports minus imports.

NET IMPORTS - Imports minus domestic exports and reexports.

AVERAGE EXPORT VALUE PER UNIT. - These have been computed by dividing the total export value each year by the total quantity and are not to be regarded as a quotation of prices.

The value upon which a given average in this table was based is composed of items which represent shipments possibly of different grades of the articles mentioned from different parts of the United States and at different seasons of the year. The actual value of any one shipment included in this total is its value at the time and place of exportation.

CONVERSIONS - Barrels reduced to pounds on the basis that 1 barrel weighs 200 pounds.

YEARS - The years end as follows: September 30, 1790 - 1842; nine months, October 1, 1842 - June 30, 1843; June 30, 1844-1929.

LEADERS - Indicate no information exists but do not necessarily signify that there were no figures for that period as they may have been included with "all other" or with the "unenumerated."

NONCONTIGUOUS TERRITORY - In the statistics of foreign commerce of the United States, the Philippine Islands and Virgin Islands of the United States are treated as foreign countries.

The statistics of foreign commerce include the trade of the customs districts of Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico with foreign countries but since 1902 do not include the trade of these territories with the United States.

In 1903, the trade with Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico was for the first time fully and definitely recorded (see Commerce and Navigation of the United States, 1903, Vol. 1, page 31). Therefore separate tables have been compiled showing shipments from the United States to Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico, 1903 - 1929.

The collection of statistics of trade with all noncontiguous territory was authorized by an act of Congress, April 29, 1902.

NET EXPORTS OR IMPORTS OF TOTAL FRESH, CANNED, AND PICKLED BEEF 1887—1929

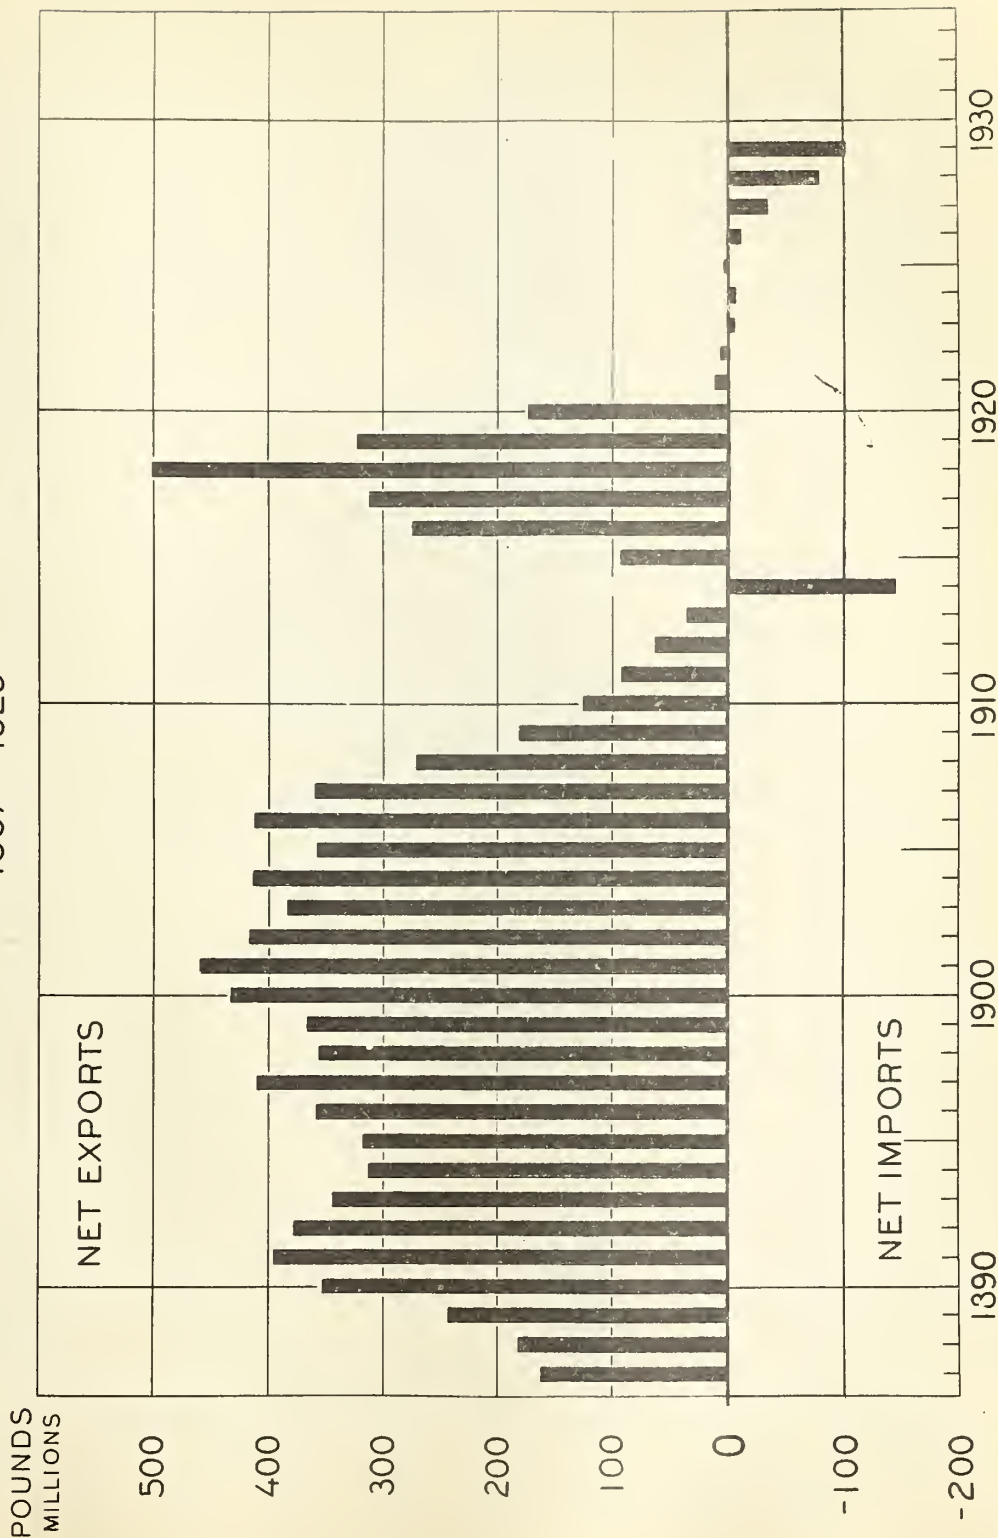

FIGURE 1.—AFTER THE CIVIL WAR THERE WAS A RAPID INCREASE IN UNITED STATES EXPORTS OF BEEF, AND EXCEPT FOR 1918 WHEN EXPORTS WERE ABNORMALLY INCREASED REACHED THEIR HIGHEST POINT IN 1901. AN ABRUPT DOWNWARD TREND STARTED ABOUT 1910 AND BY 1914 HAD CHANGED TO AN IMPORT BASIS. LATER POST-WAR YEARS SHOW AN EVER INCREASING EXCESS OF IMPORTS.

Compiled from American State Papers, 1790-1820; Commerce and Navigation of the United States, 1821-1917; Foreign Commerce and Navigation of the United States, 1918; Monthly Summary of Foreign Commerce of the United States, June issues, 1919-1926; January and June issues, 1927-1929, and official records of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

Value of domestic exports combined with the value of beef, cattle hides and tallow prior to 1855. Domestic exports include reexports 1790-1802.

Imports not reported prior to 1828. General imports, 1828-1868, 1882-1883; 1899-1900 and 1929; imports for consumption, 1869-1881; 1884-1898 and 1901-1928.

Reexports included with domestic exports 1790-1802 and not separately reported prior to 1828.

1/ Net imports.

2/ Estimated. In the original reports dutiable imports shown as 121,967 pounds, valued at $8,526 and imports from Canada valued at $7,745 for which no quantity was given. Based on the average import value per pound of dutiable tallow which amounted to 6.99 cents, imports from Canada were estimated at 110,801 pounds.

3/ Includes mutton tallow.
